SYDNEY, NEW SOUTH WALES. AUSTRALIA, April 7, 1886. [CONTINUED FROM LAST ISSUE.]

Following is the letter from the Bishop: you a commission to go and 1 reach the gospel in America, but I am obliged to say that the rules under which all Bishops of the Church of England are bound to act prevent my accedim to your request. My advice to you is to seek holy orders in America from the Episcopai Caurch. Their or ders are as apostolic as the English, having been derived through transmission from tha same Divine source.

Wishing you all blessing in any sphere of work that you may be called to under- right) and you will bee a new church that take, I am yours faithfully, Barbour Nominated By the Most Disgracefully Conducted Convention that Ever Met in Kentucky.

THE PROCEEDINGS IN FULL,

[Special to the INTERIOR JOURNAL.] LEBANON, June 17 .- The Convention to mund's Hali, at a little past 12 o'clock today and was called to order by the chairman of the district committee, J. Stone Waiker. There were a large number of delegates and the capacity of the little hali was fully tested. Frank Straus, of Builet, nominated Gen. Rodman for temporary chairman for the Barbour side; Coi. Mat Adams named John B. Thompson, of Mercer, in the Saufley interest, and then the music hegan, after much confusion, and a spat between Sam Berry and John D. Fogie, the latter of whom, was taking an ofup of her delegation. He finally established his right to the floor hy presenting a hieres from all other Saufley men. Finsily the call of the counties was or dered to decide as to the chairman and it proceeded without incident, until the Loufor 2d was announced as 3 for Barbonr and iaid on the table. This was rejected by a isvilis districts were called. When the vote 5 for Saufley, the latter's friends went wild large mejority, the Saufley men refusing in with enthusissm. There were contesting many instances to vote. A call of coundelegations from the 4th district, and npon ties on the adoption of the resolutions was these there was a long and tiresome wran- demanded by O. H. Waddie and it was orgie. Judge Humphrey stated the case for dered. The same Saufley men refused to the Barbonr delegation and W. O. Dodd for the Saufley men. During the dehate which followed Mat Adems got in some good work for Saufley, but the proceedings were characterized by great disorder and it was difficult for the chairman to enforce his rnlings or progress with the husiness. He finally decided to exclude the 4th district from voting on the questions, to which an Judge. All kinds of cat calls and groans appeal was taken by Ira Julian, seconded were made sgainst him by the Louisville bridal tour. Thompson is the son of a G. E. Davis T. S. Mc Williams, S. Ronse. by Joshus Bullitt, Jr. This was decided delegation. out of order and after much howling by the Barhour men the vote again progressed. When Larne county was reached, Senator Smith, the man who sent his railroad passes back with a hig flonrish of trumpets and was, as it is alleged, afterwards caught riding on another legislator's ticket, objected to the vote of his county being cast solidly for Saufley as instructed, until a direct vote for him and one vote was lost for his organization. Taylor had instructed solidly for Saufley, but a lot of hoodlums were marshalled and Saufley lost nearly three votes

The same disgraceful state of affairs appeared in the Washington delegation and 5 o'clock and after five solid hours of wrangling the vote was announced, Gen. Rodman receiving 120 and 28-87s and Thompson 112 and 59-87s. The Louisville gang howied itself hoarse on the resuit and the General being escorted to the chair announced that he wonid proceed at once to husiness and maintain order or know why. He then proceeded to appoint the various committees and in the case of that on credentials no such unfairness was ever shown in a democratic or any other convention. Judge Beil protested but in pompous tones the General responded: "To the victors belong the spolis and the committee will not be changed." This remarkable speech was received with intense disgust by the Saufley supporters and it merits the coudemnation of all fairminded men, when the issue is between members of the same party in a convention to decide on their relative merits: At 5,30 the convention adjourned till 8 o'clock. On reassembling a iong delay was caused hy the failure of the committee on credentials to report and it was 9.30 before it appeared. Its report showed that it did the duty it was packed to do fully. THE QUAINT PIONEER WHO PLANTED ORCHARDS IN OHIO.

A Striking and Most Interesting Character Who Was the Enriest, Colporteur North of the Ohla River-Anecdotes of

One of the most striking and in fact interesting pioneer characters of 1800 wns Jonathan Chapman, a man who, owing to his odd occupation, was generally known as "Johnny Appleseed" He made his lirst appearance in western Peunsylvania, coming from Boston, Mass. He possessed a strong passion for raising and cultivating apple trees from the seed, claiming that that was the only proper way to plant an orchard. In the spring of 1501 Chapman made his way to Ohio, at which time he appeared on the lorders of flicking creek (in what is now known as i.ieking county), with a horseload of apple seeds, which he planted in various places on and about the tunks of that stream. There is no authencic account. of his movements during the live succeeding years, although he was undoubtedly following the same strange vocation.

Early in the spring of 1806 a pioueer settler of Jeffe. son county noticed a peculiar craft with a curious cargo and a remarkable occupant moving down the Ohio river with the current. It was "Johnny Appleseed," (by which name Chapman was known from 1806 until the time of his denth, which occurred in 1547, in every log endin from the Ohio river to the great lakes on the north hud as far west as the present eastern boundary of ludiana, with two canoes lashed together, transporting a load of seeds to the then western frontlers for the purpose of planting them ou the most remotest verge of white settlements.

SCATTERING THE FIRTH SEED. In following his favorite pursuit he always kept on the outskirts of the settlements; cleanlug spots in the loamy lands on the banks of stremms, where he would plant bls seeds, place a slight inclosure around the ground, and then leave the place until the trees had become sufficiently large to be transplanted. Settlers began to flock in and open clearings. To those who wauted an orchard on their places, "Johnny" would furnish young trees. He had no idea of making any money out of his occupation, generally giving the trees away or selling them for a tritle, such as an old coat or any article of which he could make some usa. In this way he proceeded for years until the country was in a measure settled and supplied with apple tress. Chapman's personal appearance was as sunal: g as his character. He was n small man, qui k and restless in his motions; his eyes were o...ck and sparkled with a peculiar brightness, wans his hair and beard were long and dark. He never shaved and lived the roughest life, often sleeping la the woods in preference to accepting the hospitality of a sottier. His clothing was old and ragged, being generally given him lu exchange for apply trees. He invariably went barefooted, and frequently traveled miles through the saow that way. Only once was he over known to wear foot covering of any kind. A settler, who happened to own n pair shoes that were too small for his own use, forced them upon "Johnny," who reluctantly put them on. The next day "Johnny" overtock a barefooted family moving westward, and as they appeared to bo in greater need of footwear than he was he gave them the shoes.

lle was a follower of Swdenborg, took uo thought of the morrow and led a moral, blameless life. It was his eustom to circu late Swedenborgian works wherever he went, and if short of them would tear a book into two or three parts, giving each part to different parts, persons. In that way he supplied a neighborhood with a religious literature, although those to whom he gave the latter part of the book to read first, must have found it difficult to comprehend the author. ile was very careful not to injure any anirual, and thought huating morally wrong. Among the settlers he was always welcome and he was treated with great kinduess even by the Indians, who regarded him as a "great medicine man."

VERY PECULIAR AND ECCENTRIC Chapman was peculiar and eccentric in the extreme, as the few anecdotes which $ give below will illustrata On one cool antumual night, while lying by his campfire in the woods, he observed that the mosquitoes liew in the blaze and were burned "Johnny," who wore on his head a titi utensil which answered both as a cap and a mush pot, titled It with water and quenched the fire, and then remarked, "God forbid that I should build a fire for my comfort that should be the means of destroying mny of lifs creatures." Another time he made ins camp-lire at the end of a hollow log, in which he intended to pass the night, but linding it occupied by a bear and her cubs, he removed his fire to the other end and slept on the snow in the open air rather than disturb the bear. He was one moruing in a prairie and was bitten by an rattlesnake. Some time after a friend inquired about the matter, 'Jouny' drew a sigh and replied; "Poor tellow! he only just touched me, when I, in an ungodly passion, put the heer of my scytheon him and went home. Some time after I went for my scythe, and there iny the poor fellow dead." An itherent preacher was holding forth on the public square in the present city of Mansfield, and during the course of his remarks exclaimed: "Where is the barefootsi Christian travelling to heavou!" "sohiny," who was lying on his back on some timber, taking the question in its literal sense, raised his bare feet in the air and vociferated, "liere he is:"

In iss-thirt-seven years after his appaurance at Licking creek-"Johnny" observed that civilivation and wealth were fast transforming the wilderness of Ohio into a densely populated state. Churches were making their appearance, and the stage-driver's horn broke the effence of the forests, and as he had always kept just in advance of the wave of settl ment, he felt that his work was done in this region in which he had labored so long. He visited all the houses of the settlers, took in sol min tarewell of every family, and turued his steps further west, ngalu to pursue his occentric vocation. In the summer of 1847. at the close of a warm day, after traveling I wenty miles, he entered the house of a settler in Ailen county, Indiana, and was, as usual, warmly welcomed. Declining other accommodation, he lay down on the floor for the night. Iu the morning he was dead, and thus onded the mission of a man who was both a benefactor and a hero. Chapman is undoubtelly entitled to the fame of being the earliest coiporteur on the fronticers of Ohio. - Columbus Cor. Cleveland Hain lenler.

Reminded of the American Eagle. "I say, waiter," shouted the impatient gentleman, "do you know that you rousind one of the millennium. you're such a long tome coming." "I beg your pardon, sir," replied the polite attendant, "but you also remind me of something-to-wit: the Americap eagle-such a distance between tips, you know." The matter was straightwny set-

DISCUSSED IN CITY CLUBS,

Whether or Not the Ladies Shall Be Granted Admission-The Serosis

Another subject often discussed in club circles in view of the more liberal views that are prevailing in club regulations, and aspecially since the Indies' days are becoming so popular, is the admission of ladies bearing cards prepared for the purpose from members during the day hours, or, say, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. It is the custom iu the clubs that have adopted the course to admit the ladles during the hours named to the parlors, library and dining room, and they have the privilege of membership lu ordinary refreshments, the same being charged to the account of the member introducing them if not paid for on the spot. As they do not invade the billiard room, or the lar, or the card-room, the fair visitors do not interfere with any of the members who desire to smoke or enjoy what they are pleased to term the prerogatives of club life. The Union Leauge and the Lotos have been noted for frequently entertaining the ladies during the season at art receptions, but noue of the clubs in this city have necorded them the privileges described and which are extended by some of the leading clube in Boston, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Cincinnati. In London the Russell and one or two other clubs ndmit la lies, but the system le not popular, but "quite contrary, you 'to the severe English realization of the spirit and theory of club life. The liamiiton club, m Brooklyn, gives the iadies a separate entrance. The Queen City club, in Clucinnati, reserves tables for them la the restaurant. There was an effort not long since to establish a ladies club in this city which would be an exclusive resort for the members during the day, where they could obtain a light meal, find the papers most interesting to them, write letters, and recetve each other, but a failure to ngree on the general plan resulted in a general disagreement among the promoters and the ilual abandonment of the idea, for the present, at all events. It is variously whispered that some of the la lies wauted to tusist that gentlemen should be admitted into the reception room if one should happen to cail on a member or to await her coming, while the originating idea was that the other sex should not be allowed to know anything alout the club, much less be entitled to pass its sacred portals. The original idea of this ladies' club was more to provide a resort for the convenience of the members while out shopping or calling, enabling them to get a ight meal there, or go over the directory, or to write a note, than any special social ceuter or object. Probably the most successful and representative social organization of ladles is the Sorosis, which seems to flourish with ago, and which from a very humble beginning has assumed huportance. The Sorosis, however, is merely a periodical diuing club, after all. The Pot Luck, which emulates the Sorosls, but goes farther and invites gentlomen to its annual dinner and inclines to levity rather than the philosophic discussion carried ou by the grave and dignified Sorosis, has several imitators, but none which have achieved its prominence.-New

The Causes of Primary Dyspepsia, The sallva, gastrle and pancreatic juices and bile are produced in very large quantities, soveral pints of each daily. Of course, they must be made from the blood, and, being continually absorbed, the same thuid is used over and over agala after each portion has done its appropriate work. Therefore, it is impossible for these necessary secret.oas to be made unless there is an abuudant supply of blood to the organs thus curployed. Anything that interferes with the blood supply will caues dyspepsia

If the blood itself is thin and poor in quality, everything made from it must be correspondingly defective. In this way, then, a poor, insufficient diet, large losses of blood, profuse discharges as in consumption, etc.), the effects of such poisons as that of maiaria, lead, mercury and of "specific diseases," act as causes of dyspepsia. I'rolonged mental work, with sedentary habits, lack of bodily exercise, and of fresh air and sunlight, by directing the blood to the brain, lessen the amount sent to the digestive organe and cause dyspepsia. Excessive anxlety, grief, worry or any absorbing emotion acts in the same way. Fatigue of the mus-cles by manual labor, if too prolonged or excessive exercise in amount, produces similar results. Diseases of the heart or lungs, which seriously interfere with the passage of the blood through the lungs and the taking up there of the vitally essential oxygen of the air, produce dyspepsia in another wny. The blood is prevented from leaving the digestive organs; the latter, insieal of producing a natural secretion, pour out a watery fluid that is useless so far as acting upon the food is concerned, and grave digestive troubles follow, not because there is any "disease of the stomach," but in consequence of a slowing of the blood current, which must be very brisk if they are to do their full duty,-Cor, Globe-Democrat,

The Heardless Man of the Future.

Dr. lioward says that in a thousand yours all white men will be bald, but it is more probable that they will be beardless, like Chinamen. Chinese chronicles speak of a time when a bushy beard was the pride of a mandarin, and the traditional portraits of Confucius represent him with an enormous goatee. But that bushlness diminished with the vital energy of the nation, and now good beards are found only in Corea and Yunnan. The forefathers of the tame Lombardy peasants derived their name (Longobards) from their leonine beards, and the Emperor Rudolph had in his suite a Chovaller Rauber, whose forked beard tralled on the ground on both sides of his feet. The Longobards of the present age are the Armenian highlanders; next the Persians and eastern Turks. - Dr. Fellx L. Oswald.

A VISIT TO THE BURIAL PLACE OF

The Ghastly Mural Decorations of the Charnel-House-Curlous Scenes in the Dimly-Lighted Chambers of the Dead-A Very Itare Experience.

people of other countries. Let me give you an instance. At the end of the Vis Capuccinl stands the little old church of the Capuchin monks, a church of plain exterior, but rich within with marbles and paintings. Here is the celebrated St. Michael by Guido, a tigure known in every Christian land by the aid of engraving and photography. But It is not of St. Michael that I wish to tell you, it is of the good brethren of the Capuchin order, that now are with the saints, we trust. Under this church is their burial place, and their place of resurrection, too-a temporary resurrection before the final one. To see that this is properly done is the duly of the living members, not merely their burying but their rising again, to be clad in their monkieh garb and placed in the niche to which they are entitled according to date and regularly established order.

When in the church go to the left-hand corner near the great aitar and by a high ralling that shuts you from the dimlylighted side chapels, you will see a beli-rope, pull it. Not always a safe thing to do, but here entirely so. Soon will appear behind the railing a snuff-colored old gentlemanlittle black cap like a bowt, fittlug tightly to the back of his head, feet in sandals, all the rest of him enshroused in a dingy brownask to see the cometery of the brethren and he will bid you meet him at a side basement door outside of the church; here, after waitlng a few minutes, you will hear the key rattling with the dust of ages; the door opens, the monk steps aside and you pass in and down a little narrow stairway into a long corridor, from which opens a series of rooms. These rooms are small burial plata

THE GHASTLY MURAL DECORATIONS. The floor is soft brown earth and smooth as a tloor; with rows of cypress trees planted at the head of the many graves. All the furniture and adornments of these rooms are made of human bone-tones of departed Capuchina. The candelabrum hang-ing in each room is from head, finger and arm benes. Auy one who has vielted an arsenal will remember how sabers, bayonets, pistols, and the various implements of destruction are woven into decorative wall designs, rosettes, stars and the like. Let him but imagine human bones so used and he may call up a picture of the ghastly mural decorations of this strange place, where source a space on either wall or celling is not embossed with some tasteful dosign constructed from the 300 and odd bones that go to the making of our anatomy. Any one who doubts the pictures que ond decorativo qualities latent in a human skeletou should visit the cometery of the Capuchins. Every alcove or ulcho, and there are mnny, is o cupied by the skeleton of a longsince departed Capuchin, dressed in the garb of the order, their cowls falling forward over the grim skull. The effect is heightened by scraps of hair and board etlil clinging to the skull and jaws. The ories promotion, or rotation, is as follows: Should one of the brethren die, the ground being full, then the one who has been the longest time in the ground is taken up and dressed, and the trother who is the oldest occupant of the niche has to give way for the new comer, who takes his place in the miche, the old one being dismautled and his Louve distributed among the thousande that go to the wall building and decoration of the place. He has had his day, and has thus suddenly been merged in the general whole.

Many of the skeleton statues hold between their bony fingers a card on which is written name and date. Some, if they state the truth, have been so held tor more than a century. These rooms, while not altogether cheerful, yet are so grotes jue and so deco ative in their furniture and upholstery that the impression made is by no means so awesome as one would suppose; and, strauge to say, there is no charnel house odor to them. This is explained by the fact that the ground in which the menks lie buried is holy earth brought from Jerusalem, and that it abscrbs all the impurities that might otherwise prove offensive. If this be really so there are other parts of Rome that should e sprinkled with a little of it.

As you pass from these dimly-lighted chamters of death to the light of day, a small coin dropped into the hand of the good rother at the door will not be taken amiss. uor ate you likely over to regret either the time or money given for so rare an experience. - Rome Cor. Detroit Free l'ress.

How "Itum Hlossoma" Come. A correspondent asks the question: What is the cause of reduces and pluples on the nose." and receives the following answer: "Judging from the liquor saloon healings of your note and the nom de plume you have chosen, it is fair to presumme that in your case rum is the cause, and medical men would call your disease dipso mania and the skin disease acne, while in common parlauce it is called 'rum biossems,' The explanation is very simple. The creulation is through two sets of blood vesels, arteries and veins, both obtaining their notive power from the beart noting as a force-jump Alcohol increases the pulsations, and as the blood is sent from the henrt to the extremities faster than the veius can take it up and roturn it, congeition results, and the nose, being a remote portion of the circulation, reddens and maily becomes diseased. This, however, is not different from other organs of the lody; ail are congested and similarly diseased by aicohol. The best remedy is to discontinue the alcohol, and stimulate the absorption of the Blood by the frequent application of cloths wrung out of hot water. -Americau Analyst.

The Inartialle Modern Wine Glass, From the manufacturer's point of view no doubt straw-stemmed glasses are good. Their use must give considerable impetus to rade; but it is the only merit they have It is difficult to coucoive anything more inartistic than one of our blg modern glasses full of wine, supported on a stem that the least shake will break, and with nothing to protect the bowl from being plerce i by thiu pedestal. Had the designer stulled the formation of a rose he would have seen how to avoid that radical mistake. The tall, narrow glasses our fathers used for chanipagne were at all ovents graceful, even if they were a little difficult to drink out of; but our glass caucers stuck on spikes have nothing to recommend them. -Ail the Year L'ouisi.

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's llair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and failed; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause n new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age! Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Aver's Hair Vigor for life past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my finir is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE passured, that n trial of Ayer's Their Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely falien out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. 'To-day my halr is 29 inches long, fine, sirong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Halr Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. II. P. Willamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo.
A. Dadman, Walerloo, Mo., had his halr restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly baid, and very gray. He writes: "Only four botiles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor eures dis-Fosier, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable,"
